AGREEMENT FOR NON-PROFIT USE OF REPRODUCTIONS OF MATERIALS FROM THE HISTORY OF MEDICINE COLLECTIONS

The History of Medicine Collections, as part of its service to scholarship and in the interest of the widest possible dissemination of information, will make certain of its resources available for commercial publication or broadcast.

PERMISSION

The Publisher or Broadcast Producer is responsible for compliance with all copyright and other legal requirements applicable to reproduction involving rights, permissions, and copyright, and agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Duke University, its officers and employees, and any and all of them, against and from any liability, loss, cost or expense whatsoever, including attorney's fees, which Duke University, its officers and employees, any or all of them, may have incurred at any time arising out of or relating to the reproduction of its library materials under this agreement. The Publisher or Producer also agrees that any copyrights placed on the finished publication or broadcast shall in no way restrict the rights of Duke University in further use of the original materials, including the right to allow other reproduction in commercial publications or productions.

The permission herein granted is applicable in so far and only in so far as the rights of the History of Medicine Collections are concerned. The Library claims only physical ownership of most History of Medicine material. Persons wishing to publish this material must assume all responsibility for identifying and satisfying any claimants of literary property rights or copyrights.

The permission herein granted includes world-wide rights to use the material in a single publication or broadcast production. Separate permission and payment of additional fees are required for use of the reproductions in any further commercial project not explicitly covered in this agreement. The material covered in this agreement is on loan for this single use. It may not be archived or further reproduced for others.
