PDA Resources for Palm or Pocket PC

Connect to the DUMCL PDA Subject Guide at <http://www.mclibrary.duke.edu/training/pda/>

The Medical Center Library offers assistance to DUMCL patrons in using PDAs. We have selected resources and organized them into the following categories on the PDA Subject Guide:

- Getting Started: PDA terminology, guidance on choosing a PDA, and information on how to put your PDA to use.
- Advanced Functions: Learn how to beam business cards, customize your PDA, and project information for presentations.
- Software--Medicine: Recommended list of software to download for Palm or Pocket PC.
- Software--Specialties: Software categorized by Nursing, Physical Therapy, and Psychiatry.
- Installing Software: Installation instructions for your Palm or Pocket PC software.
- Training: Contact information if you questions or need some basic PDA help.
- Wireless Access: Set up wireless access and discover the resources that work over wireless connections.
- Tech Support: Get technical support within the Duke community and find links to more support pages.

Your Gateway to Clinical Software

- The Software--Medicine Basic area lists recommended clinical software available to download.
- The Software--Medicine Advanced page describes additional software for customizing your PDA for your specific needs.
- Software--Specialties contains clinical software specific to Nursing, Physical Therapy, and Psychiatry.

There's no need to search for software. All links take you to the fastest way to download or order the software. We've done the work for you!

Get the information you need, when you need it.
Make your PDA work for you!
